

A UNION'S BOOKS STOLEN.

Thomas Reardon and G. T. Lynam, President and Secretary of the Brewery Employees' Protective Association, reported at the Eleventh Precinct Station House on Tuesday that some time during the night a closet, fastened with a common lock, in the association's office at Military Hall, 193 Bowery, had been opened with a duplicate key and rifled. They said they missed the minute book and expense book since Jan. 1, 1889, and all the minute books since the organization of the association in 1886. They were disposed to believe that the books were taken by some one employed by detectives who are getting evidence against Reardon and Walking Delegate Close for the attempt to blow up Stevenson's brewery at Thirty-ninth-street and Tenth-avenue in April.
